Nearly a Bad Fire.

Nearly a Had Fire.

There was a narrow escape from a serious fire last evening in the locksmith shop of Edward Schaenfield, on Sixteenth and South streets. The blaze started from a gas jet. Lieutenant Ingram kicked in the door and put out the flame before the department arrived in response to a still alarm somebody sent in. A few minutes later the whole row would have been on fire, Fined for Petty Larceny.

Yesterday J. W. Wright made a charge bofore Squire Philips that Harry flottman had stolen his vest and a gold ring from Jennings's restaurant, on Sixteenth street. The vost was found in Hottmann's room. He admitted taking it, but said he did it by mistake, and denied that he had seen the ring. The justice fined him $10 and costs for petty larceny, as he admitted having kept the vest after he knew it was not his.

EDMUND BOCKING DEAD.

A Well Known Citizen and Veteran Business Man Passes Away.

THE DEATH WAS NOT UNEXPECTED

By Those Near to the Deceased, Who Has Been Ill for Nearly Ten Weeks, Sketch of the Dead Man, Who Has Been Hero Nearly Half a Century. He Was Liked and Respected by a Wide Circle of Friends,

The news of the death of Edmund Bocking, which occurred yesterday afternoon at 1:55 o'clock, while not entirely unexpected by persons intimate with the family, proved a severe shock to the people in general, to whom Mr. Backing has been known during his almost half century of life in the community. For the past ten weeks he had been confined to his home by a complication of diseases which the best medical skill of the city could not succassicily battle. The end came yester-day alternoon, when the deceased was surrounded by his family and relatives and friends.

At his own request an autopsy will be held for the purpose of determining the exact cause of the death, which the physicians, Drs. L. D. Wilson and R. J. Reed, were not able to determine. This will probably take place to-day. Before the end came the deceased sho directed what arrangements should be made for the funeral, which course to morrow afwhat arrangements should be made for the funeral, which occurs to-morrow af-ternoon at 2 o'clock from his late resi-dence on Chapline street, interment at Greenwood.

Edmund Bocking has been a successful business man and a respected resident in this city for nearly haif a century. He was born in Desseldorf, Prussia, in April, 1834, his parents being Adolph and Mary Bocking. They emigrated to America in 1840, settling at Phillipsburg, Beaver county, Pa. Early in life young Bocking showed an aptitude for the drug business, and found his first employment in 1850 in a Pittsburgh establishment. A year later, in 1851, he came to Wheeling, where he opened a drug store of his own in 1856. Here he has remained continuously in the same business. Few pharmacists were so thoroughly acquainted with the business in all its details, and Mr. Bocking soon won a general reputation as a careful apothecary.

business in all its details, and Mr. Bocking soon won a general reputation as a careful apothecary.

He has always taken an active interest in his vocation, being one of the promoters and organizers of the Weat Virginia Pharmaceutical Association, and was also connected with the national organization of the pharmacists. He was the framer of the West Virginia pharmacy law and held the position of commissioner of pharmacy for West Virginia for four years. The only office of public trust which he ever held was as county commissioner for one term. In politics he was a staunch Republican. A pronounced leature of Mr. Bocking's social life was his connection with various societies. He was a Mason, Kuight Templar and member of other sociaties, including the Arion Society, of which he was one of the most valued leaders. Of the score or two of leading men of the city, Mr. Bocking was one, without doubt.

He was married in 1856 to Sarah, dauchter of George W. Johnson, one of Wheeling's well known business men, now dead. Mrs. Bocking has been dead many years. About two years ago Mr. Bocking married Miss Wilson, a sister of Dr. L. D. Wilson, of this city, who survives him. Mr. Bocking had several children, but all are dead.
